Editorial

Dynamic is the keyword. Nature, Institutional life, as well as Editorial Board all are dynamic. Old students depart for better career ahead and new students enter with novel ideas and dreams for success. We are thankful to the previous editorial team and passing out students, whose memories and experience will serve as a guiding factor. We hereby take an opportunity to welcome the new students, editorial members and the advisor in the session 2015-16.

With this beginning note we like that one should learn lesson from recent news of these two eminent Indians Dr. A. P. J. Abdul Kalam and Mr. Sunder Pichai that “nothing can stop a person to rise if he works continuously with determination, intelligence and honesty”. The “missile man” will always be alive in our hearts for his humanity, dedication to his work and the books he authored. The inspiration from the newly selected CEO, Google, who hails from a middle class family and holds the present post due to his intelligence.

We the Publication and Creative Writing Society brings first issue of the newsletter which includes the welcome & motivational messages from Chairman and Academic advisor for new entrants, Independence Day celebration, orientation program and induction of the house and Institute captains. It also includes recent NCC activities and placement news.

Lastly, we would like to inform about the inclusion of new columns for student's write ups and photograph of the month. All the SBSites are requested to express their views, skills and imaginations in the form of literary contributions in the Institute monthly newsletters and an annual magazine “Endeavour”. Also, constructive criticism and suggestions are invited to improve your own newsletter.

Best wishes
