Editorial

When I first started working at the SBS University, I had just moved from my birth place to Dehradun. One of the first things I noticed about our new community was how eager people were to share their SBS experiences. Whether it was the fun alumni recalled from their sorority or fraternity days, the lifelong friendships they made or the faculty members that truly influenced their careers and lives, the huge impact SBS has had and continues to have is evident.

Whenever our students visited any kind of industrial sector they always find alumni of SBS and apart from sharing the practical knowledge they shared about the memorable moments and enthusiastic SBS faculties who always inspired them.

That is Impact

I also met a recent graduate who couldn't stop talking about how many life lessons she had learned during her time at SBS University and how it shaped her into the person she is today.

That is Impact

Stories like these are what inspired the theme for this edition of SBS Times. In this issue, you can read examples of the impact that our faculty and staff members have on students and alumni or see how our student body steps up time and time again to help others in their time of need. This issue also talks about the scientific temperament of SBS faculties.

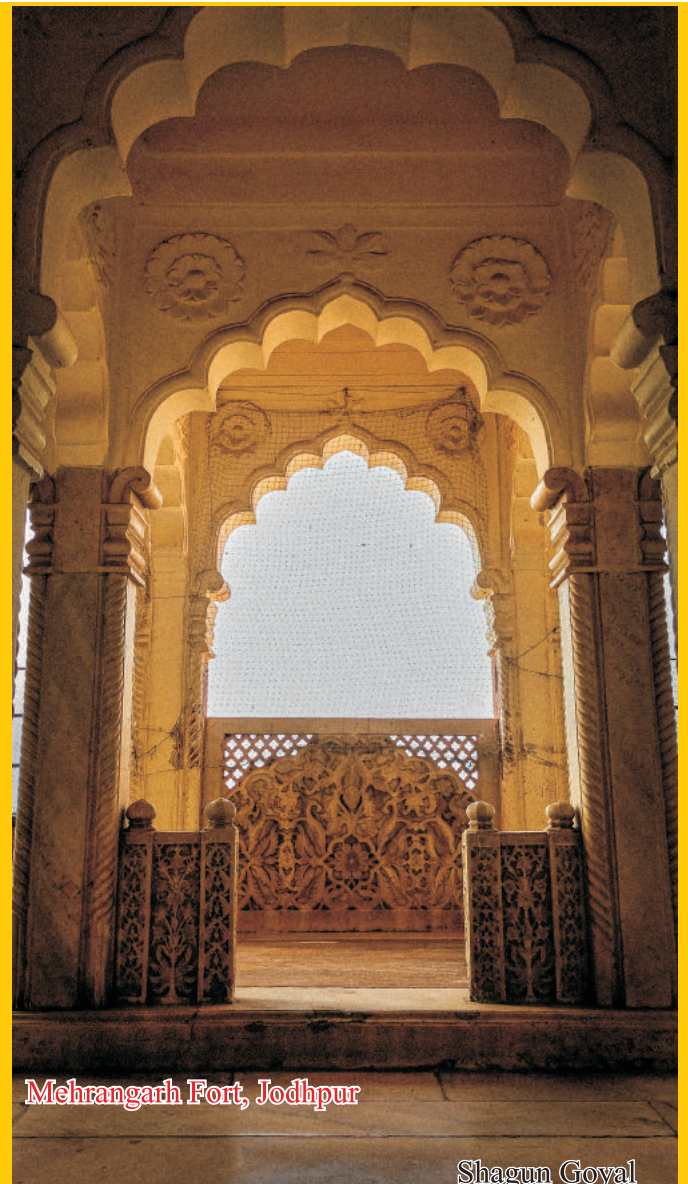

That is Impact

I hope that reading this issue will have an impact on and encourage you to have an impact on others. We may never know how much our words or actions influence the lives of those around us. But we can choose daily to be a positive influence on others in a way that could change the rest of their lives even if it's just within the walls of where you work. Here at SBS, colleagues not only support and encourage each other but also show up at funerals when one of us loses a loved one, bring food to share in times of celebrations and reach out to check on each other when one of us is ill or going through a tough time.

That is Impact and that is SBS

Happy Reading Editorial Team

LIFE AFTER DEATH

“We live as if we are not alive and we start living when are about to die”, quoting this because I believe that before natural death we die so many times, whenever we are hurt, distressed or have heart breaks, we are lost and this feeling of being lost actually pushes oneself to find out the actual purpose of life because that's the only way.

Death seems to be easy whereas living is a challenge, it takes a lot for humans to evolve since the mystery of human existence lies not in just staying alive but in finding something worth living for.

We often feel that if our dear ones will depart we won't be able to survive but you know what in our whole life we actually crave for a beautiful connection but in search of that we forget that the person who knows you both inside and outside, will never betray is your own self, so try to live every moment.

Every trial and challenge is an opportunity to improve yourself, your karmic connections will surely prepare for the great wars about to appear in your life even after death.

Only if we could imagine in this universe that life after death would be so amazing where we won't be hurt, no backstabbing, no sabotaging own selves and we'll not have to carry the burden on our shoulders and specially not to worry about the judgements, it will be just us who will reunite.

Life after death seems like a mosaic painting yet so calm, soothing and peaceful.

After death you ultimately disconnect and stop living with those strange humors of this universe and you connect yourself with the supreme power of your soul: purest connection, because death is not a termination but a transition.
